Affordable Connectivity Program

The Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP) is a federal government program operated by the Federal Communications Commission that allows qualified households to lower the monthly charge for internet or wireless plans with data by up to $30/mo. (up to $75/mo. if you reside on eligible tribal lands). You may qualify if your household is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines, you qualify for the Lifeline program, or anyone in your household participates in one of the federal programs that can be found at getinternet.gov. The benefit is not transferable and is limited to one monthly benefit per household. If the program ends, you transfer your benefit to another service provider, or you are no longer eligible for the program, regular plan rates, terms, and conditions will apply. See getinternet.gov to apply or for more details. For more information or to enroll with AT&T once you have been approved, please visit att.com/acp
